LMM CAPITAL PARTNERS OVERVIEW

Based in NYC, LMM is a family-backed private investment firm seeking to invest in, acquire, recapitalize and assist in the operation of lower middle-market US-based niche manufacturing, business services and consumer companies.

ADDED VALUE

We can help business owners achieve complete or partial liquidity by providing capital as well as industry expertise and relationships. We serve as trusted advisors to our management teams, assisting with ongoing financial, strategic and operational initiatives.

PARTNERING WITH OWNERS

We respect business owners and appreciate their lifetime of experience in building up their companies. That's why we are adamant about being collaborative in our approach and work hard to accomplish our aligned goals while preserving company culture.

OUR TEAM

The foundation of our business is our team of talented and dedicated investment principals, operators and entrepreneurs, who have extensive experience with small to mid-sized companies and understand the nuances of investing in this sector.

OUR APPROACH

Our investing approach consists of the following key principles:

Long-Term View with an Operator's Mindset We believe that the best investment results come through effective ground-level execution, not creative financial engineering or excessive leverage. Our capital partners are patient with a focus on building long-term value, which allows us to be more flexible than a typical private equity firm with a standard fund cycle

Disciplined Strategy We focus on: (i) identifying investment opportunities with a defensible sustainable business model, a differentiated approach to serving an existing market need and multiple addressable deficiencies that provide opportunity to create value through "company-building"; (ii) targeting industries in which our principals have extensive experience or know-how; and (iii) backing impressive management teams with track records of success.

Flexible Financing We take a solutions oriented approach to investing and seek to craft capital structures that work for all stakeholders. We understand the importance of providing feedback quickly, being creative in transaction structuring, and closing transactions on time.

Partnership Approach Experience has taught us that building better businesses takes time and that having financially aligned, like-minded partners is a critical component of success. Therefore, we make sure to gain a full understanding of the strategic goals of each investment, the company culture and the set of incentives in place to achieve success. "Getting it right upfront" is a large part of our investment process.

Sharing the Rewards We believe all parties should share in the success of our investments, so we provide our executives with attractive equity incentives and encourage existing team members to rollover existing equity into our transaction.
